OVERVIEW

The month of March 2023 saw the decline in annual headline inflation from 92.34% in February 2023 to 87.60%. However, month-on-month inflation rose to 0.1% in the reporting month, from -1.6% in the preceding month.

On a month-on-month basis, broad money increased by 9.12% in March 2023, compared to 8.56% recorded in February 2023. The growth largely reflected increases of ZW$114.56 billion and ZW$152.19 billion in foreign currency and local currency deposits, respectively.

During the month under analysis, commodity markets were largely influenced by a stronger US dollar, which prompted investors to shift to interest bearing assets. Prices for palladium, copper, nickel, and Brent crude oil declined, while gold and platinum prices firmed.

The country's total merchandise trade for the month under review stood at US$1,259.8 million, up by 19.2% from US$1,057.2 million recorded in the previous month. This was on account of increases in both exports and imports. The country's monthly net external trade position widened from a deficit of US$185.7 million in February 2023, to a deficit of US$229.2 million in March 2023.

During the month of March 2023, the Zimbabwe Stock Exchange (ZSE) was bullish for the third consecutive month. As a result, the All Share, Medium Cap and Small Cap indices registered gains. The mining index also gained by 27.91% to 37 359.78 points.

The value of transactions processed through the National Payment Systems (NPS) rose by 57.0% to ZW$6.04 trillion during the reporting month, from ZW$3.86 trillion recorded in February 2023. NPS transaction volumes registered a 17.54% increase to 16.87 million in March 2023.

INTERNATIONAL COMMODITY PRICE DEVELOPMENTS

Monthly average prices for palladium, copper, nickel, and Brent crude oil declined, while gold and platinum prices firmed, during the month of March 2023. Prices of commodities such as metals and crude oil, were weighed down by a stronger US dollar.

Precious Metals

Gold

In the month under review, bullion prices increased by 2.94%, from US$1,856.03 per ounce recorded in February 2023 to US$1,910.66 per ounce. The prices rallied as investors turned to the safe-haven asset, amid fears of a global banking crisis and economic uncertainty caused by the recent turmoil in the US banking system.

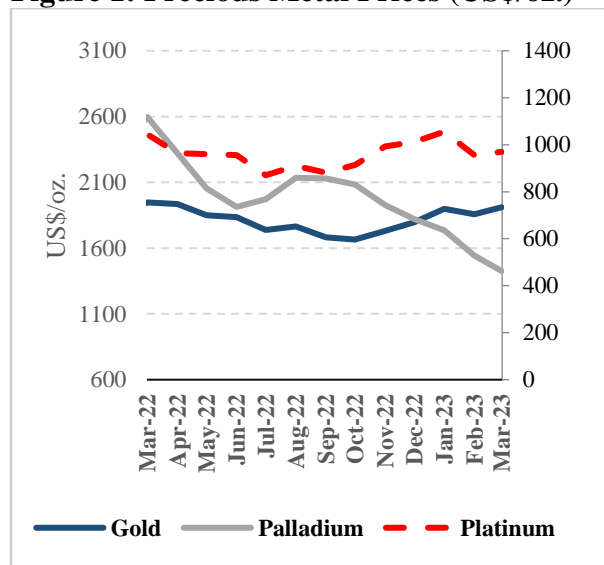

Platinum

Platinum prices rose by 1.52%, from a monthly average of US$955.40 per ounce in the preceding month, to close the month under analysis at US$969.89 per ounce. The increase was underpinned by power related supply disruptions in South Africa, one of the world's largest producers of the metal.

Palladium

Palladium prices retreated by 7.67%, from US$1,544.00 per ounce recorded in February 2023 to US$1,425.59 per ounce in the month under analysis. The strengthening of the US dollar, following the hawkish monetary policy stance of the Federal Reserve continued to weigh down prices of industrial metals, including palladium, which is widely used in the auto-manufacturing and electronics industries. Figure 1 shows precious metal price developments for the period from March 2022 to March 2023.

Base Metals

Copper

Industrial metal prices remained subdued as concerns about China's modest economic growth forecasts and the collapse of three USA banks clouded the global economic outlook. In addition, prices also eased as a stronger US dollar dented the buying appetite for holders of other currencies. Consequently, monthly average prices of copper fell by 1.05%, from US$8,954.80 per tonne in the previous month to US$8,860.50 per tonne in March 2023.

Nickel

Nickel prices fell by 12.03%, from a monthly average of US$26,721.15 per tonne recorded in February 2023 to US$23,507.13 per tonne, during the month under review. Prices declined as investor sentiment was dampened by gloomy demand prospects in top metals consumer, China, following the downward revision of economic growth projections for the economy of the Asian giant. Figure 2 shows developments in base metal prices for the period from March 2022 to March 2023.

Brent Crude Oil

Brent crude oil prices declined, as lingering economic concerns and expectations of further interest rate hikes that could curtail the growth in demand for fuel, countered signs of improving short-term oil consumption. As such, prices declined by 5.04%, from a monthly average of US$83.43 per barrel in the previous month to US$79.23 per barrel realized, during the month under review.

MERCHANDISE TRADE DEVELOPMENTS

The country's total merchandise trade stood at US$1,259.8 million in March 2023, representing an increase of 19.2% from US$1,057.2 million recorded in the previous month. The rise was on account of increases in both exports and imports. Figure 4 shows monthly developments in the country's merchandise trade for 2022 and 2023.

Merchandise Exports

During the month of March 2023, the country exported merchandise worth US$515.3 million, up by 18.2% from US$435.9 million recorded in February 2023. The rise was largely on account of increases in exports of gold and platinum group of metals (PGMs), during the month under review.

Gold, one of the country's top export commodities showed a strong rebound during the reporting month on account of elevated global prices. The bullion market experienced a recent uptick in prices due to global geopolitical tensions and the topical banking crisis in the US.

The country's export earnings for the reporting month were 7.6% lower than in the corresponding month in 2022.

Table 1 shows development in the country's exports for the months of February 2023 and March 2023.

Source: Reserve Bank of Zimbabwe, 2023

On a month-on-month basis, broad money increased by 9.12% in March 2023, compared to 8.56% recorded in February 2023. The growth largely reflected increases of ZW$114.56 billion and ZW$152.19 billion in foreign currency accounts (FCAs) and local currency deposits, respectively.

During the month under review, domestic claims increased by 18.10%, compared to 10.92% recorded in the previous month.

The growth in domestic claims was largely due to increases of ZW$223.37 billion and ZW$165.76 billion in credit to the private sector and net claims on Government, respectively.

On an annual basis, broad money registered an increase of 442.41%, compared to 478.56% in February 2023. The local currency component of broad money increased by 322.47%, while the foreign currency component increased by 579.25%.

The growth in foreign currency deposits from ZW$275.17 billion in March 2022 to ZW$1,869.07 billion in March 2023, was largely attributable to valuation changes related to official exchange rate depreciation. Over the year to March 2023, the official exchange rate depreciated from ZW$142.42 per US$1 to ZW$929.86 per US$1.

The annual increase in broad money was reflected in annual changes in net claims on Government and credit to the private sector of ZW$547.90 billion (692.67%) and ZW$1,429.91 billion (457.82%), respectively.

Credit to the private sector was mainly channelled to agriculture and households, which received 24.36% and 21.57% of the total credit, respectively. The manufacturing and distribution sectors received 13.75% and 10.92% of the credit, respectively. Private sector credit shares for the rest of the economic sectors are shown in Figure 10.
